

I am confused. I know that satellite television companies were REQUIRED by the FCC recently to carry local programming. They complied, albeit at great expense. Now the FCC wants to tell satellite radio providers that they CANNOT carry local content? I hope I will receive a reply explaining the logic behind this, because right now it makes no sense.